Advancing Change for Healthy, Active Communities

Together with you, the Safe Routes to School National Partnership is advancing the Safe Routes to School movement nationwide. Here are just a few ways we can work together to increase rates of children walking and bicycling to school and in daily life and advance policy change for healthy, livable communities.

Sharing Knowledge and Resources

The National Partnership has a vast array of resources to support the work of practitioners and advocates in the field. We offer publications, a library of resources, webinars, Twitter chats, keynote addresses, and workshops as well as customized technical assistance based upon the specific needs of your city, county and/or school district.

Advancing Policy Change for Active Places

The National Partnership continues to expand our outreach and work in underserved communities and is now leading the Voices for Healthy Kids: Active Places campaign, which will provide technical assistance for state and local campaigns to increase access to parks, playgrounds, walking paths, bike lanes and other opportunities to be physically active.

Inspiring Kids, Families, and Schools to Get Moving!

Fire Up Your Feet programs across the country are encouraging families, students and schools to work together and create active lifestyles that inspire our children to be healthy and physically active. Any school in the country can sign up to use our free activity tracker and take advantage of a healthy fundraising program to raise money for your school. In certain states and regions, the program offers Challenge Awards to help schools achieve their health and wellness goals.
